

NILS KREUGER

(Kalmar, 1858 - Stockholm, 1930)

View of Snärjebäcken, Knappegård in moonlight

signed and dated: NKreuger1895

black, white, blue and red chalk on grey paper

310 x 475 mm

Provenance:

With Fritzes Hovbokhandel, Stockholm, 1946

Dr. Emgård, Landskrona

Bibbi och Tage Forsberg (1920-2011), Malmö

Literature:

K. Boström, Nils Kreuger, 1948, p. 246 under "Teckningar" (Drawings)

Konstnytt. Meddelande från Fritzes Kungl. Hovbokhandel, Konstavdelningen, Nr. 13-14, 1946, illustration No. 8

Snärjebäcken (The Snärje Stream) is a stream in the province of Småland. It has its origin between Alsterbro and Bäckebo and flows into the bay of Kalmar at Rockneby by the Baltic Sea. The name Snärje derives from snara - in English snare - a reference to an old fishing method. It flows through the grounds of Knappegård, a manor house situated in the parish of Ryssby outside Rockneby, which belonged to Count Odert Gabriel von Essen (1854-1915), Kreuger's brother-in-law.

Please contact us for a full catalogue entry.