

Folio 19: "In 73 B.C., when people were drinking...

and cutting bread together, blood came out of the bread like out of a wound. There was also such a gruesome hail that rocks were falling from the sky for seven days in a row. And therein were pieces of real stones and quite sharp stones, so that the soil was destroyed."