Pablo Bronstein is an Argentinian artist, who lives and works in the UK. Having moved to London from Buenos Aires he first studied at the Slade, where he graduated in 2001, and secondly at Goldsmiths, where he graduated in 2004. Architecture is at the core of Bronstein's practice which spans a wide range of media, from performance to drawing. His ornamental designs and depictions of fantasized buildings are particularly notable and draw influence from an array of architectural sources including Georgian and contemporary Britain, as well as 18th century France and Baroque Italy. Recent solo exhibitions include shows at Sir John Soane's Museum (2021), Rhode Island School of Design (2019), and Tate Britain (2016).
